THE SAN JUAN ISLANDS HAVE ALWAYS KNOWN HOW TO KEEP A SECRET.

During Prohibition, they were the back roads. A labyrinth of coves and currents where rumrunners outpaced the law and contraband moved quietly south from Canada into Seattle. Booze was stashed in caves, buried in hillsides, loaded onto boats not all of which made it. Shootouts. Escapes. Ships that slipped beneath the sound and never came back up.

Some of that cargo is still out there. And occasionally, it finds its way home. A barrel surfaces on a forgotten shore. A crate rediscovered in a hidden inlet. What's inside has had nothing but time, and time turns out to be an exceptional bartender.

Each cocktail in this series takes its inspiration from one of those lost shipments. Rediscovered. Poured properly. Finally given the glass it always deserved.

Smith Tower

SEATTLE'S ORIGINAL SKYSCRAPER

The Observatory Bar has been called many things over the years. The Chinese Room. A wedding gift. Seattle's best kept secret. At 35 floors up, it has earned every name.

The carved teak ceiling has witnessed more than a century of love, luck, and the occasional bout of mischief. The Prohibition-inspired cocktails are a nod to the city's most spirited chapter, and arguably its most interesting one.

Come for the views. Stay for the stories.

HAPPENINGS

Boozy Afternoon Tea at Smith Tower blends tradition with a twist. Enjoy a curated selection of loose-leaf teas, paired with sweet and savory bites, all served 35 floors above Seattle. Each ticket includes a Special-TEA Cocktail or mocktail crafted to complement your chosen tea. From classic brews to boozy sips, it's a timeless tradition served with a spirited spin.

Shake things up with our hands-on cocktail classes, where you'll craft Smith Tower-style drinks using premium ingredients and pro tools—guided by our expert bartenders.

With rotating themes and menus, it's a perfect pour for date nights, friend outings, or team events.

Ages 21+ only.
